I live in the Metro St. Louis area with my wife and our four children. While most of my free time is spent enjoying time with the family and watching the latest in after school activities, I do enjoy traveling. Professionally, I began my career in the construction business in 1998 and I worked in construction until 2009. While searching for a solid job with a good company, I found what I was looking for in 2010 at CEPI. I've been the manager of the Central Region since 2012 and nothing is more important to me than customer service. It's drilled into every employee who walks through our doors. We are here because of you and to serve you. We are here to provide you with quality replacement parts. Supplying replacement parts isn't something we do along with selling new mixers, it's not an afterthought to a pre-existing business, it IS our business.

Born and raised in Illinois my whole life, my family roots run deep in the Midwest. I have a passion for just about anything involving the outdoors and the hope of experiencing all 50 states one day remains a goal. I had my first encounter with construction when my family decided to build a house. I learned many tasks that later helped me complete two more homes. While studying at Greenville College, I had my first encounters with customer service. After gaining some experience for a few years, the chance came for me to join the team at CEPI, and I capitalized on the opportunity. With this job, it has been a life changing experience by meeting new people and learning how to give the customer service everyone deserves. Working for CEPI, you are taught how to give the best customer service and have integrity about everything you do.

After serving 4 years on the USS Enterprise (CVN-65) from 1992-1996, I began a career in manufacturing for the next 14 years, working for companies like Quad Graphics, Kraft Foods, Coca-Cola Enterprises, Smurfit-Stone Containter Corporation, Nestlé, and finally wound up in a sales and service role in 2010 at Batzner Pest Management in New Berlin, WI. There I found my passion for sales and service. In 2014 I joined the CEPI team looking to expand business into new areas such as quarries, create a larger footprint with precast and plant operations, manufacturing, and refuse trucks. What I bring to the table are valuable lessons learned in the military, pest management industry, and throughout my various roles in the manufacturing industry. My goal is to provide the best customer service experience any company can offer hands down. Business, to my mind, is not about what a customer can do for me. It is about what I can do to help a customer get its job done, and what I can do to help in the process of making that happen.

I have lived in the Belleville area for over 5 years and in the Mid-West for over 10 years. I've spent a majority of my life traveling the world with my Dad serving in the Military. In 2013, I became a husband and 2 years later a father. Having been employed with CEPI has helped to improve my customer service skill set. The environment here has been the most enjoyable to me to work for since I first held a job at 16. Seeing how the company always puts the customer first and is willing to take the time to teach me how to do that is a gratifying experience. I look forward to the coming years and growth that is in store for CEPI as well as myself.
